

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

The Characters
Kathleen Gregory: peppery red-haired member of the Gregory clan, goes West incognito to secure a right-of-way for The Golden Girl mine.
Donald MacDonald: owner of the rival Stubbhorn Boy mine, hates the Gregorys.
Bridget: Kathleen's companion.
Yesterday: Kathleen learns that a right-of-way could be secured if there was priority of claim.
Chapter 14
'Come With Me'
Over tea and 'sly cake' which Kathleen thought resembled a Napoleon with raisin stuffing, Donald's housekeeper told how the garden and chickens augmented her husband's salary.
"A deed Donald has given to each of us, so should anything happen to him, or the mine, or new owners come in, we own this home and could manage to live. Ah, the poor Gregorys," Mrs. Arthur concluded, and Kathleen knew she referred to the Gregory miners.
The rain which had threatened to fall all day, had made good its threat when they were leaving. Mrs. Arthur looked at the sky and sighed deeply. "A green winter, Donald, a green winter." "Nonsense," laughed Donald. "This is only a green fall; we'll have snow."
"Ah, but Donald, Mrs. Campbell saw a blossom on her apple tree, three days back. I heard her calling to Annie. That's death before spring."
Donald laughed again. "I'm going to send Balmie over to see you. He'll take the woe out of that one; tell you the Campbell apple tree is in a warm corner and with the rain the tree thinks it's spring. Tell you that superstition sprang from people growing careless in warm weather and not laying up for the cold."
"Aye, Balmie has a reason for every superstition. I wish I could believe him."
Kathleen left Mrs. Arthur's home in a thoughtful mood. The mood remained through the long evening, through the delicious dinner on the menu which included all the favorite Scottish dishes from onion pudding to Rice Flour cake.
Donald MacDonald in his own home was yet another person—charming, considerate. He spoke of his family, especially of his widowed mother who summered with him, then returned to Los Angeles for the winter; and of his cousin Norman who would be with him before long.
Kathleen listened with one ear; with the other she seemed attuned to some vibration in that room; a peculiar throbbing which had an intoxicating quality. She was shocked to learn that the throbbing was the quick beat of her heart. The altitude, unquestionably; that and the air. The air in these mountains was so clear and light one felt buoyant.
She admitted enjoying the comfort of the lodge. Later, huddled before her own fire, she spoke of it.
"Imagine, that fire kept going without me. And that couch, Bridget, there were moments when I wanted to sink clear out of sight and spend the night on it."
Her bed was as uncompromising as the future. It was a cold, barren fact. She spent most of the night tossing on it, her mind active—building, rebuilding and with each board laid on board, calling MacDonald to come and see if he could have built as well.
Morning dawned with a steady rain dimming the landscape and the big room filled with damp, cold air. Had she not been so intent upon her plans, Kathleen might have complained. As it was she felt vague pity for Bridget who had been drawn into this life with her, and slipped in to build a fire for her.
'A Fairy Tale'
"I'm going to crash the Gregorys cots today," she confided. "I don't know how, but . . . watch me."
If intense desire were prayer, then Kathleen's prayers were answered. She was idling along the trail when a man rushed up to Miss Hrubá is Czechoslovakian national figure skating champion, and her partner is the Austro-German titlist. They are pictured in New York, practicing for their American exhibition tour.

"Don't you dare ask questions!"
"But, my dear young lady, how will I know what I'm going to need if I don't know what kind?"
"Oh," Kathleen relaxed. "A schoolboy has broken his leg. They were taking him to Carsted."
"Right!" The man was on his feet, giving quick orders to two nurses who had appeared. "I'll bring him here. Ruth, you come with me." He turned to Kathleen. "We'll take my car, I can convert it into a carrier. Come on."
Kathleen rode beside him and enroute talked of the little girl as well as her brother. "I didn't learn their names," she confessed. "I was so furious at you for refusing to take cases unless you were paid on the spot."
"You are crazy!" The car didn't slacken its pace but the force of the doctor's words brought Kathleen to a short stop. "I'd take every case in town on both sides of the road for nothing . . . understand . . . nothing, if I could. Do you think I like to camp there at the mouth of the mine playing solitaire; picking slivers out of miners' fingers; dressing an occasional break when I could be making myself useful? Good God, young woman, if it wasn't for old Balmie drumming into my ears my responsibility to the miners underground; the chance need of an experienced man; the hope that some day the Gregorys would get something besides gold into their veins and allow me to serve everyone; if it

WALLACE CLAIMS HIS PROGRAM IS VERY BEST EVER

Secretary of Agriculture Speaks at Springfield This Morning

Washington, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace's efforts to bolster the administration crop control program are undergoing careful scrutiny by politicians for their political as well as economic effects.
Republican leaders hope to make considerable political capital out of discontent over low farm prices and crop surpluses which has been expressed in various quarters. They are making the mid-west farm belt one of the principal battlegrounds in the November election campaign.

Wallace himself is taking a hand in the Democratic campaign, having accepted invitations to speak in Iowa in behalf of Senator Guy Gillette.

Agricultural department officials say prime causes of the reduced farm income are excessive crop yields and the business recession, which lowered consumer demand.

Wallace and his aides are advocating a revival of processing taxes to raise funds for additional subsidies, an expansion of domestic markets, and the sale of surplus farm products to low-income families at bargain prices.

Several influential members of congress have expressed approval of the surplus disposal idea.

Most of Wallace's suggestions, however, will require action by the next congress. That is why he and other administration leaders are eager for re-election of senators and representatives favorable to the department's program.

Various farm proposals on which Wallace frowns already have been advanced by opponents of the new crop control system. Some suggestions have been made for direct fixing of farm prices, a scheme which mustered considerable support in the senate last year. Under that system, growers would be assured cost of production and a margin of profit.

Military Ministers of Rumanian Cabinet Out

Bucharest, Rumania, Oct. 14.—(AP)—General Alexander Argasanu, minister of war, and General M. Glatz, undersecretary of war, resigned today.

The reason was said to be what they called the inadequacy of Rumanian rearmament measures, which the cabinet council had criticized frequently.

King Carol was reported to have taken steps to speed up the armament program.

Challenges Church to Give Action to Youth

Evansville, Ill., Oct. 14.—(AP)—The Rev. William Scott Chalmers of New York yesterday challenged the Christian church to provide youth with a program of action or warned "youth will turn to such forces as it has in Germany and Italy."

"Youth today in America is sick because it can find no worthy program to accept," Dr. Chalmers told noted Episcopal leaders attending the national congress of the American Episcopal church union.

"Youth sees enterprises and institutions of previous generations as rackets. Heroes of the past have been de-bunked and short of their greatness," he said.

"A new start is needed. Youth—unhappy, bewildered, hurt—is on the move, demanding something worthy of its power of self-sacrifice and leadership worthy of its legions," he said.

X-TOWN HAS A MACHINE BUT NO DOCTOR
THAT'S OK—Z-TOWN HAS A DOCTOR BUT NO MACHINE
A little girl who lived in a town which we'll call Y was afflicted with a strange malady which required the use of special medical equipment. Because the town was not very large the equipment was not available and it was necessary to send out an emergency call to two nearby towns, X and Z. Then it was discovered that the hospital in town X had the equipment but the doctor who was best at operating the equipment was in town Z. As a result the doctor left town Z at 9:15 and drove an average of sixty miles per hour until he reached town Y and the equipment left town X at the same time and averaged forty-five miles per hour to town Y. The distance from X to Z was one hundred and sixty-one miles and the three towns were in a straight line.

How far did each travel (the doctor and the equipment) and at what time did they meet at Y?

Isabelle Olson Lloyd Concert Violinist, to Appear with Y Singers

Dixon music lovers will be interested in the appearance of Isabelle Olson Lloyd, concert violinist, who will appear as soloist with the Y Men Singers of Kewanee, on Tuesday evening, Oct. 25, at the Dixon Methodist church, under auspices of the Wesleyan society. Mrs. Lloyd, who is an artist of the first rank, is much in demand in middle-western cities, particularly in Peoria, where she is concert soloist in the Peoria Symphony.

Mrs. Lloyd was born in Wahpeton, N. D., and while still young, showed unmistakable evidences of a musical career. Her parents recognized her talents and provided the best teacher the small town afforded. Fortunately, her first instructor was a man well versed in music lore, and was responsible for laying a thorough and exacting groundwork.

In 1925, Mrs. Lloyd entered the McPhail School of Music in Minneapolis, and received the personal attention of George Klass, who, incidentally, is the teacher of Rubinoff. Her work at McPhail was so outstanding that, within two years, she was accorded a fellowship to the Juilliard Foundation in New York City. There she was privileged to study under such able instructors as Letz, Salmond, Goldmark, Stoessel, and others. All departments—ensemble, composition, appreciation, history, harmony, and orchestra, as well as violin, were studied for three years and it is this training that so obviously manifests itself in her interpretations.

Mrs. Lloyd has had extensive experience on the stage, radio, and chautauqua, and with outstanding symphonies. One of her favorite numbers, which will be included in the groups she will present to her Dixon audience is the Wenzlowski Concerto No. 2 in D Minor. The Y Singers group is composed of 30 men who enjoy that music and will inspire all of those who have the privilege of hearing them.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS

Mrs. Mima Hettinger, organizer and a past president of Anna Kellogg Baker tent No. 81, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, was appointed to the office of patriotic instructor at yesterday's meeting of the tent in the G. A. R. hall. Mrs. Maude Hobbs, senior vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Lucy Eastman.

Plans were discussed for presenting three flags to the Prairieville school, the first week in November. On Monday evening, Oct. 24, the tent members will attend a banquet and reception for department officers of the Woman's Relief corps at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

BIRTHDAY CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Birthday anniversaries of its members provide the incentive for party plans in one of the city's most congenial groups. Yesterday the women presented a birthday remembrance to their hostess and elected new officers when they met for an afternoon party to celebrate Mrs. Orville Heckman's anniversary.

Mrs. Harry Whippman is the new president and Mrs. George Bain was elected to serve as secretary and treasurer. Five tables were made up for luncheon, with Mrs. S. E. Wirth and Mrs. Roy Randall winning prizes.

Refreshments were served at close of the afternoon.

CHOIR HAS SOCIAL

Members of the Presbyterian choir were entertained at the home of their director, Miss Naomi Woll, following the group's weekly rehearsal on Wednesday evening. During a short business meeting, plans for the year were discussed.

Miss Woll's guests included Mrs. Robert Harridge, Miss Christine Oglevee, Miss Grace Koeppe, Miss Ruth Morris, Miss Edith Iles, Miss Alice Thompson, Miss Olive McClanahan, G. B. Morton, Lucius Thompson, Henry Pollock, Glen Gibson, Robert Preston, Earl Forsberg and the Rev. Herbert J. Doran.

CARD PARTY IS SUCCESS

Some 200 guests turned out last evening to patronize the benefit card party sponsored by members of St. Patrick's Catholic Woman's club in St. Mary's parish hall. Fifty-one tables were made up for bridge, 500, and pinochle.

Florian H. Kieffer and Mrs. John Welch were fortunate in auction. Mrs. George MacGraham and Grover Gehant scored high in contract, prizes in 500 went to Mrs. William Odenthal and Thomas Patterson, and Mrs. J. Julian and Glade Lambert received score favors in pinochle. Fred Ehnman was presented with a guest prize.

Refreshments were served, following the card games.

Mrs. Frank Tyne was general chairman for the affair, and Mrs. George Richards was in charge of ticket sales, assisted by Mrs. Philip Bondi, Miss Helen Giszczinski, Mrs. Edward O'Malley, Miss Leta Thompson, Mrs. Iva Callahan, Miss Mary Vaile, Mrs. Ned Giannoni, Mrs. Joseph Scanlon, Mrs. Everett Sawyer, Mrs. L. Venier, Mrs. Charles Hansen, Mrs. Sarah Egan, Mrs. Charles Burke, Mrs. L. Harrington, Mrs. Sauer, Mrs. George McKinney, Mrs. Phillips, and Mrs. Glade Lambert.

Those composing the party committee were Mrs. Withers, Mrs. Frank Gardner, Mrs. Clinton Ives, Mrs. Harry Williams, Mrs. C. W. Pieschel, Mrs. John Lacks, Mrs. Edward Bock, Miss Helen O'Brien, Miss Mary Bales, Miss Annie Marie Hobert, and Mrs. William Penrose.

Foreign Travel Club is Entertained with Caribbean Travelogue

Last evening marked an important autumn date for members of the Foreign Travel club—the opening of another year's program of fascinating tales to tell of foreign shores. For members of the group will scarcely be able to put their finger on any spot of the map that won't be re-visited by means of the travelogue-picture route during the pleasant winter program of study and reminiscence they have outlined.

Attractive lacquered gourds from Cartagena, woven baskets from Jamaica and Haiti, colored rubber figurines depicting native life in Curacao and Panama, and dozens of pictures taken by a sympathetic camera illustrated the Caribbean travelogue given by the group's hostess last evening, when Mrs. Harry Edwards entertained at her Hennepin avenue home. Judge and Mrs. Edwards left Dixon late in August, going by way of Canada to New York, from where they sailed on the S. S. Santa Paula. In her talk last evening, Mrs. Edwards described their trip through the Andes, their visits to Curacao, Aruba, Caracas, the capital city of Venezuela, besides Haiti and Jamaica, and told of interesting encounters with native merchants, with whom she bargained for the articles which she was showing to her guests.

William Bardwell of Barrington will give a description of his horseback trip through Canada when the club members meet again on Nov. 5 at the home of his mother, Mrs. H. U. Bardwell.

LINCOLN P. T. A.

More than 200 members of the Lincoln Parent-Teacher association assembled in the school gymnasium last evening for their opening meeting of the year. Mrs. Robert Ayres, the new president, presided.

The evening's program included violin duets by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Westor, with Mrs. Dwight Chapman at the piano, and a demonstration on correct lighting by Miss Katherine Baxter and Miss Maxine McGinnis. A charter for the school's Boy Scout Cub pack was presented to Miss Esther Barton, principal.

Plans were discussed for sponsoring a jitney supper on Friday evening, Nov. 4.

Score favors in the auction games went to the bride-elect's mother and sister, Mrs. Warren Leake of Amboy and Mrs. William Jacob. Pink and blue appointments were used at the refreshment tables.

Middle-Aged Reserve Force British Plan

London, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The British government established today a middle-aged territorial army reserve corps to be made up of light anti-aircraft units to protect "certain vital industrial establishments against attack by low-flying aircraft."

The force will be recruited from the factories concerned, and members will serve only at places where they are employed. The age limits were fixed between 38 and 50, with the explanation this was done with the object of utilizing services of men too old for regular and territorial army units.

WHITHER... ETC.?

What label do you suppose the generation after the next one is going to affix to your own era? Sometimes the suspicion asserts itself that a justifiable tag might be "The Age of Irrelevance."

Men win political posts because of their abilities as tent-show producers, people read the same books, and boys enter institutions of higher learning because of the football teams they boast.

And now comes news of an annual industrial band contest in England that looms as large in the worker's and employer's mind as sports do in the American student's. And all the factories confess that other factories hire musicians as skilled laborers, but none of them admit the practice themselves. It all sounds familiar in this jolly collegiate football season.

Is this going to be known as the Age of Irrelevance? Perhaps not. History has a way of see-sawing. If the trend survives, maybe what's around the corner is merely more irrelevance still: musicians hired for their skill on the assembly line; show producers for their talent in the political field, and football players for their scholarship.

HOW HE HAS CHANGED!

Extracts from federal treasury statement for October 8: "Receipts, $13,656,225.04; expenditures, $27,977,803.26; (Deficit for day, $14,321,578.22) "Receipts for fiscal year (since July 1) $1,615,952,952.76; expenditures, $2,452,080,713.46; ... Excess expenditures, $836,127,760.70. Gross debt $38,429,178,693.38, an increase of $698,270.68 above the previous day."

"With these declarations the Democratic party sets its face against the time-serving and disastrous fiscal policy of recent years—when the depression began the administration, instead of reducing annual expenses to meet decreasing revenues, became sponsor for deficits, which at the end of this fiscal year will have added 5 billion dollars to the national debt. To meet this staggering deficit the administration has resorted to the type of inflation which has weakened public confidence in our credit both at home and abroad. ... Let us have the courage to stop borrowing to meet deficits. Stop the deficits!"—Extracts from an address by Franklin D. Roosevelt on July 30, 1932.

"I accuse the present (Hoover) administration with being the greatest spending administration in peace time in all our history, and which has piled bureau on bureau and commission on commission, and has failed to anticipate the dire needs of reduced earning power of our people." — Extract from speech by Franklin D. Roosevelt on Sept. 29, 1932.

"I regard reduction in federal spending as one of the most important issues in this campaign. In my opinion it is the most direct and effective contribution that government can make to business."

"Our federal extravagance and improvidence bear a double evil; our whole people and business can not carry its excessive burdens of taxation; second, our credit structure is impaired by the unorthodox federal financing made necessary by the unprecedented magnitude of these deficits."

"I shall carry out the plain precept of our party, which is to reduce the cost of the current federal government operations by 25 per cent. Of course, that means a complete realignment of the unprecedented bureaucracy that has assembled in Washington in the last four years."—Extract from a speech by Franklin D. Roosevelt on Oct. 29, 1932.

"Just one word or two on taxes, the taxes that all of us pay toward the cost of government of all kinds. Well, I know something of taxes. For three long years I have been going up and down this country preaching that government, federal and state and local, costs too much. I shall not stop that preaching."—Extract from a speech by Franklin D. Roosevelt July 2, 1932.

"Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors, because they are burden on production, and can be paid only by production. If excessive, they are reflected in idle factories, tax-sold farms and hence in hordes of hungry tramping the streets and seeking jobs in vain. Our workers may never see a tax bill, but they pay in deductions from wages and increased cost of what they buy, or as now, in broad cessation of employment."—Extract from speech by Franklin D. Roosevelt on Oct. 19, 1932.

In March, 1933, the "staggering debt" of the federal government was 22 billion dollars. Much of this was left over from the Woodrow Wilson war squandering.

As stated by Roosevelt's own treasury department the federal debt as of Oct. 8, 1938, was approximately 38½ billions.

"At a White House conference yesterday (Oct. 10, 1938) Budget Director Daniel W. Bell is reported to have informed Mr. Roosevelt there is no hope of a balanced budget by the end of June, 1940, even if business accelerates to a boom-time pace."—Extract from an I. N. S. news item.

REDS DON'T LIKE LINDBERGH

In view of the extravagance and intemperance of the recent verbal attack on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh by eleven Russian aviation notables, and in view of the silence of the colonel upon the subject, it is hard to understand what basis the Reds have for their sudden animosity.

The Red aviators charge Lindbergh with saying, after his recent visit to Russia, that Germany's aviation was superior to that of Russia. He is also said to have told a group at a party given by Lady Astor in London that the Red aviation service was chaotic and inefficient.

Knowing, as we do, the Yankee colonel's tendency to mind his own business, we are inclined to doubt whether Lindbergh made a statement in regard to the efficiency, or lack of it, in Russian aviation, we could be sure the statement was based upon personal conviction, and as near accurate as any information one could obtain.

The statement that Lindbergh said he refused a position as chief of Russian civil aviation probably is another Red exaggeration. Probably, if the colonel were offered such a place, he would decline it for personal if not technical and political reasons. Lindbergh himself is not without funds, a thing which ought to make him disliked by the Red regime. He is a hated plutocrat. His wife is Anna Morrow Lindbergh, of a family known and disliked in Russia as aristocrats.

The theory that Red aviation is weak could be deduced by the recent conduct of the soviet in connection with the European crisis that has just passed. There is reason to believe strongly that if Russia had been as strong as the Reds boasted of, England and France would have forced the issue

WASHINGTON—Rumors that the President had a secret plan up his sleeve when he urged the A. F. of L. convention to make peace with the C. I. O. may be disregarded. Actually the strategy behind his bombshell was a fairly simple one.

Increasingly concerned over the economic and political consequences of labor's cut-throat warring, he has for some time been casting about for a formula that might bring the two rival camps together. So far he hasn't found it.

The idea of his surprise maneuver was to put Federation chiefs on the defensive. Roosevelt and his lieutenants are convinced that the AFL rank and file want peace, but that the leaders, because of personal vendettas and fear of losing high place and lush salaries, are obstructing it.

By urging harmony, as he did in his message, Roosevelt hoped to strengthen the hand of peace elements within the Federation and to bring public pressure on the die-hard Federation bosses.

He got quick results when Dan Tobin, president of the Teamsters Union, took the convention floor and demanded that peace negotiations be resumed with the C. I. O.

Tobin's speech caught his fellow-AFL moguls as much unaware as the President's message did, but it wasn't the spontaneous performance it appeared to be. Tobin had been secretly tipped off by his close friend Jim Farley on what Roosevelt was going to say.

Tobin is the staunchest New Deal ally in the Federation's high command. Most of the other leaders are either lukewarm or outright hostile. Tobin is a Democratic National Committee officer, serving as head of its labor campaign committee in both the 1932 and 1936 races.

Roosevelt Haters
Here is the latest story circulated in Wall Street by Roosevelt-haters:

The three dictators of the world, Hitler, Mussolini and Roosevelt, had a meeting to divide up the universe. Mussolini claimed the largest share on the ground he was the first in the dictating racket. But Hitler objected.

"It is true you were the first," remonstrated Der Fuehrer, "but God told me I should be the big boss."

"I don't," snapped Roosevelt.

Don't Trust Democrats
Diplomatic dispatches from Europe indicate that the chief motto of the smaller countries since the Czechoslovak sell-out is: "Don't trust the democrats."

What most Americans don't realize, but Europeans do, is that Czechoslovakia could have made a deal with Germany and saved its own skin had it not trusted Britain and France.

One untold bit of history connected with this occurred in 1935 when Ferdinand Veverka, former Czech Minister to the United States, was returning home and called on Roosevelt to say goodbye. Veverka quoted the President as saying:

"Give my regards to that grand old man, President Masaryk, and tell him that for its own best interests Czechoslovakia should make a deal with Germany."

Again last spring the Yugoslavs, close friends and allies of the Czechs, gave them similar advice. The newspaper Politika, mouthpiece of the Yugoslav Premier, advised Czechoslovakia to make a deal with Germany before it was too late. Meanwhile Yugoslav military attaches in Paris told the Czechs that it was dangerous to depend on their allegiance with France, who they said, did not have military equipment strong enough to match the Germans.

Eduard Benes, however, was a strong believer in democracy. He stuck by France and Great Britain. Now all the smaller countries of Central Europe are advising each other not to make the same mistake that he did.

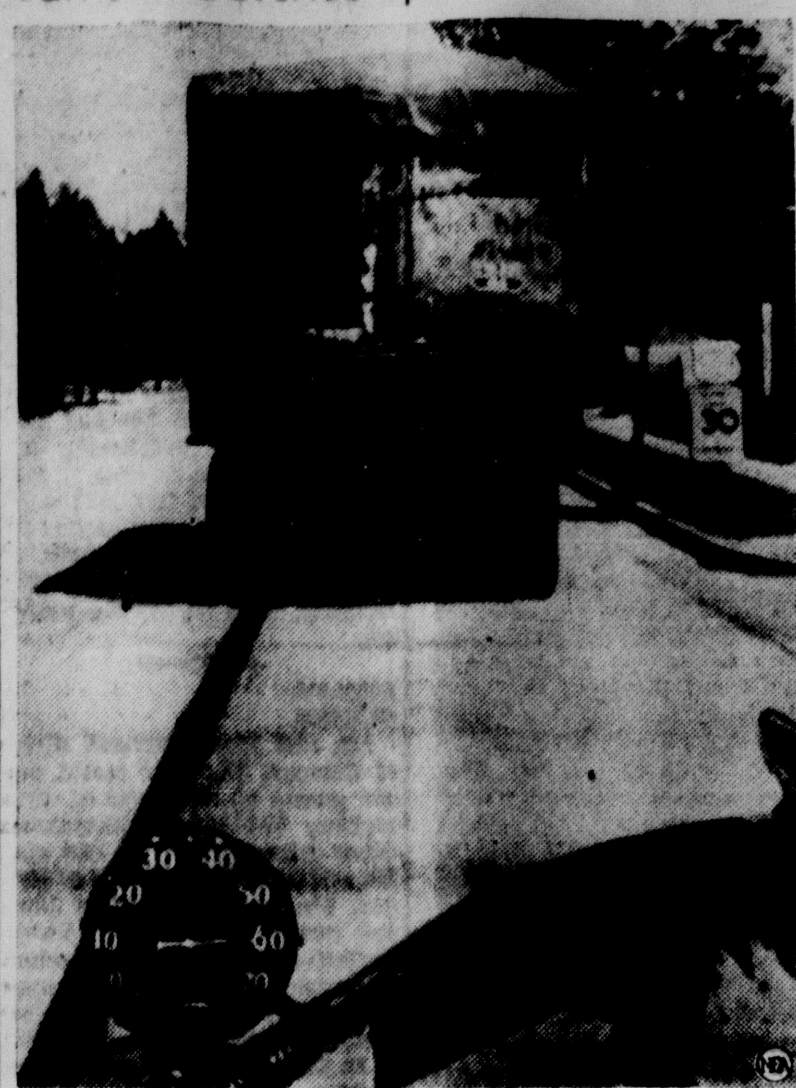

Still Running
When Henry Wallace travels around the country, he is publicly concerned with the farm problems of 1938, but privately he is also concerned with the political problems of 1940.

In Fort Worth, Texas, recently Wallace made a speech on cotton that was widely publicized. What was not publicized was a breakfast talk that did against Germany, or else Germany never would have been as defiant as she was.

The Reds don't like Lindbergh. If anything had been lacking to complete America's high estimation of the colonel, the Red dislike of him ought to make it 100 percent.

Camera Catches Speeders in the Act

No matter how hard he argues, the driver of the truck in the above picture won't convince a judge he wasn't traveling 60 miles an hour on a 30-mile speed limit highway. A camera on the windshield of the car following the truck photographed simultaneously the truck, a speedometer (registering 60 miles an hour) attached to the left front fender, of the trailing auto, and the 30-mile speed limit sign. It's a new device in the war on speeders exhibited at the National Safety Council Congress in Chicago.

not deal with cotton, held in his hotel room.

His guest at the breakfast was Earle B. Mayfield, National Committee member of the Young Democratic Clubs and announced candidate for president of the organization. Wallace is an unannounced candidate for President of the United States.

The inside word is that Mayfield sought Wallace's support with the implied—if not expressed—proposal that if Mayfield became president of the Young Democrats in 1939, he would support Wallace in 1940.

Note—When the Negro waiter brought breakfast to Wallace's room, he became so excited on learning he was serving the Secretary of Agriculture that he dropped the tray and spilled the breakfast on the floor. Wallace told him not to worry.

Secret Ohio Deal
It is going to cause an awful stench when it leaks out, to say nothing of a chorus of denials, but Governor Davey, defeated in the Democratic primaries, has made a secret deal with John W. Bricker, the Republican candidate, to throw his weight to him.

Briefly put, the deal is that in return for putting his Democratic machine behind Bricker's Republican candidacy, Davey will get one-third of Bricker's patronage. This will allow Davey to build himself up for a come-back as Senator or Governor.

Part of the arrangement is complete secrecy on both sides. Davey doesn't want to be read out of the Democratic Party, while Bricker doesn't immediately relish the hue and cry of Republican bosses who have been licking their lips over patronage promises after many years away from the feed trough.

Bricker figures that once elected, he won't have to worry about the local politics, because he is interested in national politics. He figures that if elected he can build himself up in two years to become Republican candidate for the presidency in 1940.

There is no doubt that Governor Davey can swing votes to

A. F. L. TO OPPOSE PATMAN'S CHAIN STORE TAX BILL

Voted Stand at Closing Session at Houston, Tex. Convention

Houston, Tex., Oct. 14.—(AP)—American Federation of Labor unions, armed for war but apparently anxious for peace in labor's internal strife, today turned over to their executive council for action the policy mandates of the 58th annual convention which adjourned last night.

Jammed into the program in an 11 day meeting that was dull and stormy by turns were a dozen controversial issues that called for action on the political and industrial fronts. The convention voted to meet in San Francisco in 1939.

After the tumult and debating over dualism and the new deal in the closing days of the session, the convention closed on a "high note of peace." It was sounded by William Green in a speech accepting for the fifteenth time the presidency of the A. F. of L.

"I promise to you," Green said, "that I shall make every contribution that lies within my power toward the promotion of peace in the labor movement; I shall do what I can to heal the wounds and close the breach and unite the forces of labor."

Will Seek Unity
His avowed to seek unity with the C. I. O. followed convention action approving the continuation of the "war chest" special assessment levied a year ago for extensive organizing purpose and the adopting of a report on "secession and dualism" recommending that the council be authorized to "carry on the battle and at the same time stand ready to respond to any genuine appeal for peace."

Daniel J. Tobin, leader of 350,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and the lone outstanding advocate of immediate peace action by the leadership, said it might take a month or a year to reopen the unity negotiations with the C. I. O. broken off last December after a tentative formula for peace had been reached.

Noisy Ovation
After the noisy ovation given him when he was reelected Green addressed an appeal to the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, the United Auto Workers Union, the United Textile Workers Union, and the Oil Field Workers International to leave the C. I. O. and return to their former affiliation with the A. F. of L.

The convention turned down resolutions asking A. F. of L. support for collective action by Democratic nations against aggressor nations, ordered the establishment of a new maritime union built around the sailors' union of the Pacific, and voted to oppose congressional enactment of the Patman chain store tax bill.

Motorists Hamper War Instruction in East

Fort Bragg, N. C., Oct. 14.—(AP)—A million Americans received their first lesson last night in how to defend themselves against hostile bombing airplanes.

Residents of approximately 15,000 square miles, including 67 towns in 21 eastern North Carolina counties, turned off their home, factory and store lights as big army "flying fortresses" and accompanying planes flew at a high altitude toward Fort Bragg.

Commanding officers said that the greatest difficulty of the ground forces was caused by automobiles on the highways. They asserted that pilots could follow the stream of lights to a point where all was dark, indicating the presence of a "blacked out" town.

Illinois Seventh in Tornado Frequencies

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Illinois was ranked as No. 5 among the states in the order of frequency of tornadoes by Hoyt Lemons of Northwestern University's geology department.

Kansas held the No. 1 position in order of frequency, according to Lemons who announced conclusions of an extensive study of tornadoes.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Far better. It is easy to say they are bad enough now but compare the business methods shown very faithfully in the motion pictures of early New York, Chicago and San Francisco with those of leading business men today and the comparison is heartening. The growth of business courses in our high schools and the development of schools of business in our colleges are bringing a professional spirit into business vastly better than the old buccaneering methods that were scarcely above those of pirates. The enactment of pure food laws and the development of the Bureau of Standards has not only improved business morals but are largely the result of this improvement.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. That great English statesman, Edmund Burke, said a man is singularly unfortunate in his choice of a political party unless nine times out of ten he can vote with it. I agree; but that tenth time he will be far more effective if he does his own thinking and, if necessary, breaks with his party. The two worst citizens are the hide-bound party man whose motto is, "May my party be right," but right or wrong—my party," and the one who is always changing and is a chronic floater.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Not in the least. Some of the greatest men that ever lived were so shy their lives were one long misery of blushing and bashfulness. Rousseau, the French philosopher, was so afraid to be seen on the street he would visit his grocer only at night. Hawthorne's accounts of his own bashfulness make brilliant but painful reading. I have read that both Bing Crosby and Walt Disney are very bashful and lacking in self-confidence.

RED CROSS REPORT SHOWS 145 HIGHWAY EMERGENCY DEPOTS

St. Louis, Oct. 14.—(AP)—William M. Baxter, Jr., St. Louis, manager of the Red Cross midwestern area, announced today that there are now 145 highway emergency and stations in Illinois.

These stations, located in roadside stores and filling stations, represent one of the Red Cross' latest safety programs designed to reduce the highway toll of death and injury.

The 126 Red Cross chapters in Illinois reported training 13,747 people in first aid during the last year, Baxter's state summary showed.

The report showed that in Illinois this year 4,756 men and women were trained and qualified in the technique of rescuing and reviving drowning victims.

Aimed at combating the accident toll on farms and in homes, 96 Illinois chapters maintain accident prevention committees that carry on a year-around campaign to educate communities in safety practices.

Red Cross nurses in Illinois chapters made 15,736 visits to sick patients who otherwise would not have had nursing care.

In special Red Cross services, 11,608 volunteers in Illinois devoted 100,000 hours to producing garments for the needy, canning fruits and vegetables, filling Christmas bags for U. S. soldiers and sailors stationed in foreign ports, and in transcribing reading material into Braille for the blind.

No Increase in CCC Enrollment in State

Washington, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Robert Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation Corps, announced today the CCC enrollment quota for the three months which started October 1 had been increased by 13,138.

He also authorized enrollment of 1,567 additional project assistants, enrollees with technical qualifications, for supervisory work.

These increases brought the replacement enlistment quota for the quarter to 58,716, sufficient to bring the total enrollment up to the authorized 300,000.

No increases were authorized in the regular enrollment for North Dakota, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. The last three, comprising the Sixth Corps Area, were assigned 153 additional project assistants.

Japanese Drive Moves Toward City Today Relentlessly

Hongkong, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Preparations were hurried today to send 400,000 women and children and the municipal and provincial governments into the interior from Canton as a new Japanese force of 40,000 moved closer to that South China metropolis.

The invading army captured Tamshui, 12 miles from Bias Bay where it landed Wednesday, and was reported striking due west in a 20-mile drive to cut the important Canton-Kowloon railway at a point about 20 miles from the borders of this British crown colony.

Incessant bombing and shelling left Tamshui in ruins. The invaders drove relentlessly toward the important garrison city of Waichow, 82 miles east of Canton and 35 miles north of Hongkong. Chinese resistance improved as the Japanese columns moved steadily inland, but the invaders' airplanes and artillery were being used with crushing force.

Canton Cut Off
With the destruction of a long wooden bridge about 15 miles north of Hongkong, Canton was cut off completely except for the highway to Waichow and the water route to Macao, Portuguese colony 70 miles south of Canton.

Chinese military supplies from Hongkong were blocked, and it was learned a caravan of 160 trucks, by which an effort was made to send materials to Canton, was forced to return here after finding the bridge destroyed.

Events were moving rapidly in Kwangtung province, of which Canton is the capital. Provincial and municipal archives, it was learned, were being sent to Yung-yuen, in northern Kwangtung. Government officials were expected to leave shortly by special train.

Heavy Chinese reinforcements were being rushed to Cheungmu-tau, on the Canton-Kowloon railway, and to Waichow, where a bitter battle was expected.

Seek Safety Zones
Kwangtung authorities were reported to have asked the consular body of the Shamen foreign settlement of Canton to convey to the Japanese a request Lingnan University and the French Catholic cathedral in Canton be declared safety zones for non-combatants.

More than 200 foreigners remained in Shamen, including 80 Americans. The United States gunboat Mindanao, with one French and five British war vessels, were bottled up in waters near Canton.

The Japanese consul here was understood to have warned all Japanese residents to be cautious regarding anti-Japanese feeling among Chinese residents of the colony. Japanese homes and businesses here were given special guards following a consular request for such protection.

More than 100 Japanese planes, in squadrons, bombed towns and villages in the pathway of the advancing troops. Coastal cities including Swatow, where 20 planes dropped scores of bombs in the business district and did considerable damage, were among the planes' objectives. Casualties were reported heavy.

More than 200 were reported killed or wounded when bombs struck a group of fishing boats on the Tsing river in Kukong.

New York state has 62 counties, 932 towns or townships, 60 cities, 8,400 school districts, 554 incorporated villages, and 2,564 special districts.

Ohio-born William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, goes Texan in a big way as he tries on a 10-gallon hat at the national convention of the A. F. of L. in Houston. The hat was a gift of Gov. James V. Allred who made Green an honorary captain in the Texas Rangers. In a more serious mood, Green told reporters he favors a proposal by President Roosevelt to mediate the dispute between C. I. O. and A. F. of L.

STUDENTS INJURED.
Two members of the Stone Hill rural grade school baseball team were seriously injured at 3 P. M. Tuesday when the coupe in which they were riding with their teacher and other members of the team was involved in an accident at the "four corners," one mile north of Chana.

Leo Rager, 11, suffered a fractured leg and Robert Bennett, 14, a fractured pelvis, while Miss Frances Garland, of Woodstock, teacher at the school, and several other pupils, escaped with bruises.

According to Ogle county authorities who investigated the accident, Miss Garland's car was struck from behind by a car driven by Orlo Anderson, Chana. Rager and Bennett were riding in the rumble seat and it was reported were thrown to the pavement. Bennett, however, denies this stating that there were six riding in the rumble seat and eleven passengers were in the car and he sustained his injuries by being crushed in the impact while in the car. After receiving first aid at the office of Dr. R. J. Johnstone, at Chana, the two most seriously injured were removed to the Lincoln hospital. Rochelle. Bennett is the most seriously injured and will recover if no complications such as internal injuries develop.

The Stone Hill school players were enroute to the Cyclone rural school grounds for a baseball game at the time of the accident.

WALLACE SCHEMES FACE ATTACKS IN COMING CAMPAIGN

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 14.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace urged corn belt farmers today to fight for the "best farm program agriculture ever had" and cautioned them to beware of substitutes offered with the sole purpose of destroying the present farm act.

Wallace told a meeting of farm leaders and AAA committeemen the agricultural adjustment act of 1938, while not perfect, does represent a complete charter of farm equality and is capable of being improved with experience.

The secretary credited the farm act with preventing a big drop in farm cash income and farm buying power. The drop in income, he said, had been held to about 12 per cent of last year's total and the reduction of buying power to 9 per cent.

"In the face of a business situation in which factory employment and payrolls have been down over 30 per cent," he said, "to hold farm income so nearly steady is a real achievement."

Praised Cooperators
Wallace praised farmers who cooperated under AAA saying: "You have done well to make your program play so big a part in ending incipient depression, and in putting the country back on the road to prosperity."

Outstanding among substitutes suggested for the AAA, Wallace said, is price-fixing. He said the advocates of this substitute urge setting prices at cost of production, or parity, or some higher figure and assert all the bother about allotments, worksheets, compliance and payments could be eliminated. He made it clear he was not opposed to price-fixing in itself, but added that any proposal that a fixed price be paid on an unlimited quantity of goods was unsound.

"No business organization anywhere has ever been able to fix a price while exercising no control whatever over production," he declared. "Look out for price-fixing combined with unlimited production unless you want to get hurt."

Against High Tariffs
Wallace warned against raising tariffs to keep out imports. He charged the Smoot-Hawley tariff act was a crime against the American farmer, a major factor in the farm depression, and the cause of tariff embargo, and quota retaliations against American farm products which reduced farm export trade in 1932 "to the lowest point in 42 years."

Referring to the 1938 corn crop, Wallace said that in view of the supply situation that will exist, the loan rate will be "at least 57 cents a bushel." This compares with a loan rate of 50 cents last year, which recently was increased to 57 cents.

He told growers that if they would cooperate in the 1939 acreage allotment program, and if corn yields were no better than average, marketing quotas on corn would not be needed next year.

RENEWALS PREDICTED
Washington, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials forecast today most farmers would renew government loans on 1937 corn. The loans, made on 48,000,000 bushels, expire October 31.

Farmers may renew the loans at a base rate of 57 cents a bushel. The rate of expiring loans was 50 cents.

Officials said that inasmuch as current prices were below the 57-cent rate, most farmers would renew their obligations and hold their grain under seal for higher prices. If prices advanced above the 57-cent loan level, the borrowers would receive the benefit of the increase.

Borrowers may retire their loans by paying the amount of their loan plus interest or by surrendering to the government corn put up as collateral.

Lucas Says No One of Responsibility Wants Dictatorship in U. S.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Rep. Scott W. Lucas, Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, in a campaign speech here last night, said "no responsible leader of either major party wants or will countenance a dictatorship."

"Dictatorships occur only when a sufficiently large section of the population is dissatisfied with its lot to the extent that it will sacrifice, willingly, the personal liberties and rights of an entire nation for temporary security," the Democratic congressman said.

The United States Army has perfected a bomb that is used for aerial photography at night. The light given off is so intense that it approximates daylight for a fraction of a second, and makes night photography possible to a degree of detail almost impossible in actual daylight.

The Story of OD and AD and the AUTOMOBILE

OD and AD were machinists many years ago. One day, at a fair, they saw a buggy with an engine in it. They saw many ways to improve it, and each decided to build an automobile. But when it came time to sell their first cars, OD and AD had different ideas.

How OD Tried to Sell His First Automobile

OD invited all his friends and neighbors to his house. He drove his automobile around the block and gave them a ride. They were thrilled. They wanted to buy it. But when they learned that it cost $3,000, not one of OD's friends could pay such a high price.

How AD Sold 10 Automobiles

AD had also spent nearly $3,000 in building his first car. He knew that only a few people could afford so high a price, and to find them he must show his car to a great many. So he advertised that he would demonstrate his car the following Saturday afternoon. People came from miles around. AD ran his car up and down the street. Afterward, ten men wanted it. AD told them that by making ten cars he could cut costs and reduce his price to $2,500. So he hired several men, rented a building, and started making more and better automobiles.

How OD Finally Sold a Car

OD heard that AD had sold ten cars, so he decided to try again. When his second car was finished, it had cost him almost as much as the first. He showed it to as many people as he could see and after a long time sold it for just about what it had cost him. In the next five years OD built several more automobiles, but always by the time his cars were finished AD was making better cars for lower prices.

How AD Sold 10,000 Automobiles

AD decided that if he could make cars by the hundreds, he could lower the cost and add still more improvements. So he appointed agents and advertised in other cities. In this way he was able to tell the story of his car to thousands and thousands of people neither he nor his agents had ever seen. The more agents he appointed, and the more he advertised, the more people came in to try his car, and the more cars he sold. And the more cars he built, the better he built them, and the less they cost.

By 1911, AD was making such a good car for $1,500 that he sold 10,000 that year.

Why OD Gave Up Trying to Sell Automobiles

OD now saw that he could not possibly make cars at low cost by building only a few each year. Nor could he sell enough to make more by telling people about them one at a time. So he decided to go back to work as a mechanic. He applied at AD's factory and was promptly employed.

How AD Sold Millions of Automobiles

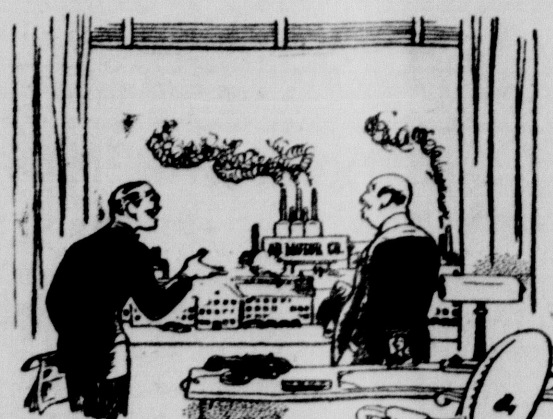

AD now realized that there were millions of people who would buy his automobiles if the prices were only lower. He also knew that if he could build hundreds of thousands of cars a year, he could make them better and at less cost. So he enlarged his factory, employed more men, and advertised to millions of people all over the country. By 1921, he was making a fine-looking car with a six-cylinder motor and a self-starter. And the price had been reduced to $1,000.

AD's profit per car was now very small. But he sold so many cars that his business was successful. And, as prices became lower and lower, millions of people who had never dreamed they could afford automobiles were able to own and enjoy them.

By 1938, AD was making the best and finest looking car he had ever built—and the price was only $750.

AD Tells OD How It Came About That So Many Families Now Have Automobiles

ONE DAY OD went into AD's office at the factory. OD said, "Remember the time we saw the horseless carriage at the fair? Who would have believed that in 30 years almost every family would have an automobile?"

AD said, "It never would have been possible without advertising. All the advances in manufacturing would have been futile without advertising to tell the story. As it helped us to sell more and more cars, we were able to make them still better and sell them at lower prices. As a result, the advantages of an automobile are now enjoyed by people of small means just as they are by the well-to-do."

"But you spend millions for advertising," said OD. "Yes," said AD. "But we sell so many cars that our advertising costs only about $15 per car. That is not much when you remember that in 30 years the average price of a car has been reduced by more than $1,500. So, advertising has really helped to reduce prices and year after year has helped make it possible for millions of people to have better cars for less money."

(Car prices given above for 1911, 1921, and 1938 are the approximate average of new car prices in those years.)

HITLER RECEIVES HUNGARIANS FOR MINORITY STUDYBudapest Government Decided to Further
National Safety

Berlin, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Adolf
Hitler received former Premier Koloman Daranyi of Hungary at the Munich fuhrerhaus today in a conference, the purpose of which was described as "an interchange of views on Hungarian racial groups in Czechoslovakia."
The Hungarian statesman was accompanied by Andras Mecezer, a Hungarian Nazi leader, and Otto von Erdmannsdorff, German minister to Budapest.
The group arrived in Munich
after a quick flight from the Hungarian capital.
(Advances from Budapest said the Hungarian delegation went to Berlin on Hitler's invitation.)

CABINET ANNOUNCEMENT

Budapest, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The Hungarian cabinet announced today it had decided to take "further measures for the military security of the country" and said heavily-armed Czechoslovakia had attempted to exert pressure on Hungary in the dissolved Komarom conference.

The announcement came after an all-night cabinet session in which ministers sought means to obtain from Czechoslovakia Hungarian-populated territory which Hungary is demanding.

Shortly after the announcement was issued, 500 students of the University of Budapest staged a demonstration in Liberty Square demanding arms to fight Czechoslovakia.

The demonstrators chanted:
"Horthy-Duce." There was no
coupling of the name of Adolf Hitler with Hungary's regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, as there had been at previous gatherings.

Cite Czech Mobilization

The cabinet's communique asserted that Czechoslovakia had mobilized men up to 60 years of age. Hungarian political circles held the view that Hungary could not tolerate wide military disparities between the two countries.

Britain, France, Germany and Italy, have been informed of the breakdown yesterday of the Czechoslovak-Hungarian territorial negotiations at Komarom, the cabinet announcement said. Besides these four powers, to whom the government submitted its territorial claims for a solution, the cabinet also notified Poland.

With this done, the communique said, Hungary resumed the right to take adequate measures for defense.

The official view was that the tense situation between Czechoslovakia and Hungary was placed squarely on the four powers, whose heads resolved the German claim to Sudetenland at Munich Sept. 29.

JEWISH AGENCY IS FIRM IN MOVEMENT
TO THE HOLY LAND

Jerusalem, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The Jewish agency for Palestine replied to a warning by the Palestine Arab defense committee today with the declaration that further killings would not deter the Zionist movement.

The Arab committee Monday warned Jews in Palestine and eastern nations to expect grave trouble if the Zionist movement persisted in further immigration into Palestine.

A Jewish agency statement said that no dangers would deflect Jews from a policy of returning to Palestine which "is dictated by historical necessity."

There was widespread belief that a climax was fast approaching in the Palestine crisis, in which disorders in the last 12 weeks were unofficially estimated to have claimed 1,850 casualties, including more than 800 lives.

Well-organized rebel activities have been increasing daily in number and daring. Rebels apparently have been trying to harass vulnerable communication lines and circulate alarmist rumors in order to keep the government on the defensive.

The past success of such a policy necessitated abandonment of outlying police posts and government offices.

Spent Night in Room.

The detective said Zimmerman, arrested yesterday for questioning, probably would be freed. The young man was held in default of $5,000 bond on a technical charge of loitering. He admitted, Captain Taylor said, being in Miss Gorton's room from 8:20 P. M.
Wednesday until 3:15 A. M. yesterday, but insisted she was un-harmful when he left.

The captain learned Zimmerman met Miss Gorton in a tavern Monday night and was out with her again Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The young man came here from Michigan two weeks ago and picked up a job with a furnace repairman he met on the way. Taylor said Zimmerman told him he had served 60 days recently for larceny at Adrian, Mich.

The slain girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Gorton of near Winchester. She was graduated with honors from Mc-Kinley high school in the country near her home last spring.

She had a crippled arm. The state rehabilitation department had made her a ward and had been helping pay her expenses while she studied for a secretarial job. Only a week ago, she moved from a residence home for girls to the rooming house.

Gorton said his daughter was quiet and studious and wrote home often. He said she had been home less than two weeks ago.

ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE.

Findlay, O., Oct. 14.—(AP)—
Two men who attacked 18-year-old Betty Gazarek, daubed obscene words on her body with

Sheriff Lyle Harvitt said the girl was taken to a hospital last night after a motorist discovered her in a ditch.

While her father, Steve Gazarek, waited in an automobile, Harvitt said, Betty went to a store Wednesday night and bought red paint and a brush.

"As she left the store, two men pushed her into an automobile and drove away," the sheriff

RETRIAL OF TEN OIL CASES IN U. S. COURT IN MAY

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley Picks Madison for Hearing

Chicago, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley today tentatively set May 8, 1938, for retrial of ten oil company executives and one oil company acquitted July 19 at Madison, Wis., of charges of conspiring to raise and fix gasoline prices.

The new trial will be at Madison.

Judge Lindley set the date at a conference of government prosecutors and counsel for the defense. He fixed April 17, 1938, for a similar meeting to act on any details arising in the interim.

Attorneys expressed the hope that by the time of the next conference the appeals of 17 defendants—12 firms and five individuals—from their conviction on the anti-trust charges will have been concluded. The firms were fined $5,000 each and the individuals $1,000 each.

Seek Mandamus
A mandamus action against Federal Judge Patrick Stone, who heard the cases at the Madison trial, is returnable Oct. 24. Brought by the government, it asks Judge Stone to explain why the 11 defendants whom he exonerated should not be retried.

When he dismissed the charges against the 11, Judge Stone ordered new trials for 18 more.

The ten individuals and one corporation which the government is attempting to bring to trial again are:

Nash Gives Powers to Aid in Harmony Move

Chicago, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Al-derman Jacob M. Arvey, a west side ward committeeman who has been a familiar figure at the state house, replaced Patrick A. Nash as head man in the Chicago city hall Democratic campaign organization today.

While Scott W. Lucas, senatorial nominee, came here for his first metropolitan speech of the November drive, the Kelly-Nash Democrats completed harmony arrangements with Nash stepping aside.

To give representation to followers of Governor Horner and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, the Democrats have created a harmony committee of eight.

Arvey is one of the four members from Kelly-Nash ranks.

Pleading ill health, Nash sent word yesterday that he wouldn't be able to be active in the current campaign. On his recommendation, his followers gave Arvey the new job of vice-chairman of the county committee.

During the Democratic splits, Arvey made frequent trips to Springfield in the interests of city hall legislation and Democratic peace. He is chairman of the city's finance committee.

Moderate Drinkers are Traffic's Big Bulwark

Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 14.—(AP)—"Moderate drinkers" were described as the bulwark of the liquor traffic and "perhaps our greatest hindrance," by Dr. Ella A. Boole, president of the world's Women's Christian Temperance Union, in an address here last night.

Celebrating Lefty Uses His Right

Apparently everything that Lefty Gomez does is right with the recently warring missus now, for she rooted for him during the World Series and joined with him in the night club celebration after the Yankee victory. The left-handed hurler is pictured above, using his right arm to good effect with Mrs. Gomez, the former June O'Dea, as they watched the floor show at a New York cabaret.

HARMON

By Margaret Anderson.

The Harmon Home Bureau unit met at the home of Miss Lenora Kofeod on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 12. The opening songs were "Dreaming" and "You Can Smile." Roll call was answered by telling of "A Hal-owe'en prank in which I took part." It would have been a wonderful opportunity for any present day boy or girl to obtain pointers on how to celebrate this season of the year.

"Audit Your Health" was the title of the major project lesson given by Mrs. Ellis Kugler. Question—Which is cheaper, to wait until you are sick before calling a doctor or to consult a physician regularly while you are well and thus avoid illness? A lively interest was shown in this subject of health and how to keep it.

The minor project was an interesting demonstration of loop weaving. It was new to most of those present and the bent of the feminine mind was shown in the careful attention to Mrs. Kofeod's presentation of the work. It being Oct. 12, the program centered around Columbus. The first number was that great poem by Joachim Miller in which Columbus hurls his mutinous crew "On and on" to success. Instrumental music was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Goble Wadsworth and a reading, "October Days," by Mrs. Glenn White.

For the November meeting each member is asked to bring a suggestion for a Christmas gift. Miss Kofeod served a delicious Hal-owe'en lunch. The Hamilton club members were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson on Monday evening. The tantalizing aroma of wieners roasting gave the members and several guests a very hearty appetite. This was the annual fall get-together.

'Cotton Ed' Is 'Hoppin' Mad'

Senator Ellison DuRant Smith of South Carolina was still "hoppin' mad" when this picture was taken at Washington shortly after his request for a conference between President Roosevelt and a group of southern senators was refused. Although the White House insisted "Cotton Ed," who recently was renominated despite vigorous Roosevelt opposition, was just too late in asking an appointment, Senator Smith saw a direct snub, complained angrily. Senator Smith is spokesman for senators and farm representatives seeking an increase in the cotton loan rate from 8.3 cents a pound to more than 11 cents.

Complexity of Building Battleships May Delay Navy's Program

Washington, Oct. 14—(AP)—The complexities of building 35,000-ton battleships threatened delay today for the navy's expansion program.

For the second time the navy has extended the period of filing bids on three battleships for which congress has appropriated initial funds. At the request of shipbuilders the date for opening bids was advanced from Oct. 19 to Nov. 2.

Naval circles heard that since no battleships have been constructed in this country for 15 years, builders needed more time for estimates and negotiations with sub-contractors.

Costing $70,000,000 or more each, the new ships are expected to require four, and a half years to complete. More than 6,000 skilled workers ultimately will be employed on each.

How Hitler's Triumph Smashes Little Entente

CARVED out of the torn, heterogeneous central Europe after the World War, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and Rumania assumed their respective liberties with trepidation a score of years ago. They realized at the outset, of course, that mere mutual defense would not maintain them as individual states unless they were assured of

FANFARE—

By DON DANIELSON

The Lindellmen put the finishing touches on their practice last night in preparation for the last out-of-town game tonight at Belvidere. Dixon fans who plan to attend must get an early start. The first game is set to begin at 6:30 P. M. Coaches Lindell and Winger are planning to take about 30 men to the neighbors' yard.

Ken Haines and Ray Wilbur are reported expecting to attend the Wisconsin-Pitt game at Madison tomorrow. (Lucky lads.) Mr. and Mrs. Niel Fox, Miss Elsie Neff and John Mhuill will attend the homecoming game at Carthage college tomorrow when the Carthage team meets Illinois college. Alf and Mrs. Gerald Jones will spend the week-end in South Bend, Ind. and will attend the Notre Dame-Illinois football game tomorrow.

This week end: Dixon at Belvidere; Mt. Carroll at Savanna; Mt. Morris at Amboy; Lanark at Galena; Warren at Stockton; Polo vs. Oregon at Mt. Morris; Rochelle at Mendota. Sterling gets into the activities of the North Central conference when DeKalb visits them on Saturday afternoon.

The Rockford Rays are hosts to two Joliet teams tonight and La Salle-Peru plays at Freeport.

Daily reminder: If you tuned in late, you may not know that the big time will present the baseball attraction at Walton Sunday afternoon when Head Coach Billy Webb with some of his White Sox players will be on hand for the annual homecoming of the Walton Catholic church. The weather remains true to its baseball love and a large crowd is expected to watch the Pale Hose in action as they divide their time and talent and share it with both the Dixon baseball club and Walton who meet for the feature of the day.

There are only 57 players of the 300 in the National professional football league who have seen five years or more of service and seven of them are members of the Chicago Bears. They are Joe Zeller, Bill Karr, George Musso, George Corbett, Gene Bonzani, Jack Manders and Bernie Masterson. Green Bay has six veterans in this category, and Washington, New York and Detroit have five each.

Turning to Harry Grayson, NEA writer, again for football predictions we find he says: Alabama over Tennessee; California over U. C. L. A.; Columbia over Colgate; Holy Cross over Carnegie Tech; Dartmouth over Brown; Georgia Tech over Duke; Fordham over Purdue; Army over Harvard; Oklahoma over Kansas; Minnesota over Michigan; Iowa State over Missouri; Nebraska over Indiana; Northwestern over Ohio; Notre Dame over Illinois; Pennsylvania over Princeton; Stanford over Oregon; Cornell over Syracuse; Pittsburgh over Wisconsin; Navy over Yale; and Texas Christian over Texas A. & M.

400 PUBLICITY MEN WORK TO GET A MAN ON ALL-AMERICAN

New York, Oct. 14.—(AP)—It is somehow alarming to learn there are more than 400 college football publicity men in this country, each of them determined to place at least one man on this season's All-America eleven.

For these figures, and the warning implied, we are indebted to Bob Madry, who has been singing man for the University of North Carolina for 15 years. Bob is here with a trunk full of photographs of the Tar Heels, who play New York university tomorrow.

Bob's job, like that of the other 389-odd, calls for him to get around a great deal, establishing a new pitch each week and generally sifting miscellaneous information for the benefit of sports writers.

Also in town are Dexter Reed of Colgate and Bob Woodworth of Purdue, either of whom can recite offhand the birthplace, nickname and favorite movie actress of every stalwart young athlete on the squad.

Madry, for instance, is the man who drove the nation's sports writers more daff than usual last season with his daily essays, by wire and by mail, touting Andy Bershak, the North Carolina end, as the greatest wingman ever seen. "Maybe I was just a trifle enthusiastic about Andy," Bob admits now. "But I still say he was a great end. You can forget about that now, though. I've got a real All-American in this 'Sweet Lallane'."

Most of the campus publicity men have had newspaper experience and have a wide acquaintance among the country's football writers. Each of them has anywhere from one to six full-time assistants. His salary ranges up to $6,000 and $8,000 a year.

Madry spends about $1,000 each season on photographs alone.

Pigskin Pickers are Busy Today

Coach Lindell Set for 120th Game Tonight

DIXON ALUMNUS IS THIRD GUEST PIGSKIN PICKER

Bill Underwood, Jr. Is Crystal Gazer This Week End

The wheel spins, the little white ball bounces and ping, here are the lucky winners (he hopes).

It's Bill Underwood, Jr., who was a star quarterback at Dixon high school a few years ago, steps into the ring tonight to challenge those former pigskin pickers who have held the spotlight this season.

Bill hates to pick the Drake game, he says, and probably because of a lad with the same last name and who happens to be, not only his brother, but a co-captain of the Drake squad.

We don't mean to rush off, Bill, and leave you alone like this, but there's the bell and all seconds must get out of the ring. You're on your own now. Watch your foot and guard your chin.

By BILL UNDERWOOD, Jr. IOWA-CHICAGO: The Hawk-eyes to win their first conference game, 21 to 6.

PITTSBURGH - WISCONSIN: The Badgers are awfully strong, but not quite powerful enough. Pittsburgh, 14 to 6.

MINNESOTA-MICHIGAN: Michigan will be a surprise this year but they aren't quite ready for this one. My guess is Minnesota, 13 to 0.

NOTRE DAME-ILLINOIS: Anything can happen here, but with the Irish and their luck it's Notre Dame, 13 to 7.

NORTH WESTERN - OHIO STATE: Too close to predict, but a coin says Northwestern, 7 to 0.

NEBRASKA-INDIANA: Indiana can't lose all the time. An upset, but I say Indiana, 12 to 7.

FORDHAM-PURDUE: Purdue without Isbell will not be strong enough for the Rams. Close, but I say Fordham, 14 to 6.

TULSA-ST. LOUIS: The Golden Hurricane really has a football team. Tulsa, 21 to 6.

COLUMBIA - COLGATE: Too much Sid Luckman. If Luckman pitches it's Columbia, 21 to 0.

PENNSYLVANIA - PRINCETON: Princeton will come back strong, but not quite enough. I say Pennsylvania, 14 to 0.

NAVY-YALE: Navy after a battle, 28 to 13.

DARTMOUTH - BROWN: Two strong teams in the East. With-out knowledge I say Dartmouth, 21 to 7.

ALABAMA-A-TENNESSEE: Frank Thomas has the strongest team in the South. Alabama, 14 to 0.

DUKE-GEORGIA TECH: Georgia Tech was lucky last week. I say Duke, 13 to 6.

ARMY-HARVARD: Too much man power for Harvard. Army, 21 to 7.

CALIFORNIA-U. C. L. A.: California is headed for the Rose Bowl again. After a struggle it's California by 13 to 0.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA-WASHINGTON STATE: Howard Jones is on the way up again. California, 20 to 12.

OREGON-STANFORD: Stanford was lucky last week. Not so lucky this time. Oregon, 19 to 7.

DRAKE-CREIGHTON: I hate to pick this one, but if they get any breaks at all, I cross my fingers and say Drake, 13 to 7.

AUGUSTANA-ST. AMBROSE: Friendship says I should pick Augustana, but St. Ambrose looks too tough. For their 28th straight, St. Ambrose, 14 to 7.

Bird in Hand Isn't Worth Two in Bush

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—(AP)—"A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush" didn't run true to form for Albert Armistead and Walter Scofield.

Armistead fired into a flight of ducks and brought one down. Scofield placed the duck carefully in the pocket of his hunting coat.

A short time later Scofield felt a rustling as the mallard, only stunned by Armistead's shot, took off from his pocket.

The hunters were too exasperated to think of firing a second time.

Lindell Seeks 83rd Victory

Here's a record which speaks for itself: thirteen years of football coaching with a percentage of .745!

That's how things stand tonight for Coach Clem B. Lindell of the Dixon high school as his Purple and White warriors meet Belvidere for the coach's 120th game. Lindell doesn't need the battle.

CAMPING FOR LAKE TROUT

The disciple of Izaak Walton whose lake trout fishing experience has been limited to trolling in deep water with a copper line or a heavy silk or linen line which is weighted down with an immense chunk of lead, can hardly conceive of the sport which awaits him if he goes after lake trout in the fall with a regular bait casting outfit similar to that used for bass. It is angling at its best.

There are a few places along the north shore of Lake Superior, on the waters of Lake Nipigon, and some of the other cold lakes where lake trout frequent the shallows and can be caught by the bait caster. It is the general rule for lake trout to lie for the deepest part of the lake as soon as hot weather comes, to stay in the deeps until the spawning urge hits them. At spawning time they will come up to the shallows seeking the proper grounds for their eggs. When the weather is hot, trolling deep is the only certain way of getting the big fellows in most waters.

Must Be Approached With Care
Where lake trout are plentiful in the fall they do come into the shallows for feeding, but it is a tough task to get near the big fellows on a clear day with little wind and requires all the skill that the best bait master has. If there is a ripple on the water the setting is more favorable. The trout like the shallow, rock reefs, and upon occasion will even take to sand and gravel. There is sufficient water to conceal them and offer a good spawning ground. They seek the locations where young herrings are plentiful, as herring is one of their favorite delicacies. When lakers are found the bait caster waits for his lure out a goodly distance can get sport fit for a king.

Gives Trout a Chance
Many who have had their only experience with lake trout through the trolling medium question the gameness of the lakers. If they put any other fish under the han-

He was a participant in football, track and baseball for three years in high school, two years at Parsons and two years at the University of Iowa.

Before coming to Dixon Coach Lindell worked two years at Madison, Wis., followed by two years at Galva, Ill.

At Mediapolis his undefeated team won the championship while at Galva the high school was not a member of any conference.

In his nine years in Dixon Mr. Lindell's teams have won five championships and have been runners-up four times. As a member of the North Central Illinois conference here—in the years 1929 to 1938—he has coached 43 conference games, won 33, tied 6 and lost only four for a percentage of .846.

For an all time coaching record over a period of 13 years Mr. Lindell presents the excellent summary of 119 games played, 82 won, 15 tied and 22 lost for the grand total percentage of .745.

Tonight the Dixon high school football team goes to Belvidere where Coach Lindell's heavy-weight squad will push, punt, pounce and pass to continue the outstanding record of Coach Clem B. Lindell.

MICHIGAN FIGHT WITH GOPHERS IS PIGSKIN NATURAL

Wolverines Moving Into Minnesota Backed by Hunch Players

Chicago, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Fritz Crisler's Michigan Wolverines moved into Minnesota's ballfield today possessed of what the hunch players probably would tab as a "sign."

The supporting argument, for those who lend credence to such things, begins with the fact Michigan has never been defeated five times in a row by any team. It continues with the whisper that Michigan State beat the Wolverines four successive times, but failed to do it this year.

The Gophers have whipped Michigan four successive times. Saturday Bernie Bierman's boys will be trying to make it five straight.

Last night, as the Wolverines rested in Chicago en route to Minneapolis, the shuffle of chance assigned to Fritz Crisler, in a loop hotel, room 1938.

There are abundant reasons which make the 28th meeting of the two teams a natural. There's the Little Brown Jug and ex-Minnesota Coach Crisler. But chiefly, it was the Gophers who kicked the Wolverines from their dominance of the western conference.

Began in 1933
It began with a scoreless tie in '33 and continued with the four successive Bierman victories.

In other Big Ten camps yesterday:

Wisconsin was cheered by the return to action of four injured players—Ends Gordy Gile and Bob Weigandt, Tackle Bob Eckel and Halfback Tony Gradinski—all of whom probably will see action against Pitt.

Punting and passing held Indiana's attention before they left for their engagement at Lincoln with Nebraska.

Zuppke Predicts Defeat
Speed and frequent shifts in his backfield were planned by Mal Elward to return his Purdue Boilermakers winners over the tough Fordham crew in New York.

Bob Zuppke predicted defeat for Illinois by Notre Dame because of the injury suffered by his Quarterback Mel Brewer.

Iri Tubbs sent Iowa through a pass defense drill before leaving for Chicago while Clark Shaugnessy sought a solution for his right tackle problem by using four Maroon sophomores during a scrimmage.

Northwestern was pronounced "not yet ready" defensively for Ohio State by Lynn Waldorf as he continued defensive work; rain forced Ohio State indoors but Mike Kabealo got in some practice passes before the storm broke.

Professional Football To Get Touch of Color

Washington, Oct. 14.—(AP)—J. Kingsbury Espey, general manager of the champion Redskins, decided today the professional grid game needs more color.

"The middle of the American football field has been drab too long," he said. "We're going to do something about it—we're going to rouge the 50-yard line."

"Yes, sir, we're going to put a big yellow line across the field, and then we're going to put a red stripe down it's middle—as crimson as ever got on a co-ed's lips."

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up by AP Writer

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Some queer things are happening out there in that Minnesota powerhouse . . . Bernie Bierman has a 218-pound fullback (Larry Buhler) playing right half and running the ends . . . Wilbur Moore, born and bred a right-half, is playing left and tearing the tackles apart for amazing yardage. . . Bierman has a converted fullback—George Faust—playing quarter, and, o yea, just for a change, Fullback Marty Christ-lanson is playing fullback. . . There is a hard-boiled hockey defense man (Mariucci) with a lot of body checking talent playing one end, and a basketball hotshot (Butch Nash) playing the other. . . Guards play tackle and tackles play guard, and I am only sorry to report that Centers Dan Elmer and John Kilbiski are not playing quarter. . . But give Bierman a chance . . . They may be there before the season is over. . .

The baseball gossipers have Burleigh Grimes catching on at Rochester and Jimmy Wilson at Buffalo. . . Just to show you how Bill McKechnie feels about his second base problem, he has offered Linus Frey, Wally Berger and a promising kid catcher, Will Hersberger, to Boston for the aging Tony Cuccinello. . . The Messrs. Bill Terry and Larry McPhail didn't almost square off against each other during the World Series, did they? . . . All because Brooklyn drafted a pitcher (Russ Evans) Terry had bought for Jersey City? . . . Anyway, their feud is at the "berling pernt," as they say in Brooklyn, and anything can happen. . .

Most of you didn't know it, but Ernie Lombardi of the Reds won the National League batting championship with a pair of sprained and tightly taped wrists during the last three weeks of the season. . . They were so swollen the club doctor told him to quit and go home. . . Most players would have done it, but old Ernie k and itthnewel heliw . . . Ta-stuck and won the title with a mark of .342. . . So while you are putting out vivas for Joe DiMaggio, Frankie Crosetti and other Italian heroes of the World Series, save a few lousy ones for old Ernie, who won the batting crown the hard way. . . There was no snap to his swing the last three weeks. . . He just pushed his bat out in front of him and every time he connected it hurt like the very devil. . . So viva Lombardi! . . . (or whatever you holler in Italian) . . .

Most baseball men think Ray Schalk already has signed to manage the St. Louis Browns . . . Henry Armstrong is 8 to 5 over Cefterino Garcia, and how can you figure that the way the Filipino can sock? . . . Baseball men are beginning to wonder what is going to happen to Frankie Frisch? . . . The Brooklyn club made dough last season, but a lot of it went back into the expense column—The new lighting system, Babe Ruth's $15,000 salary, etc. . . What's become of the Budget-turning-pro announcement? . . . From what they've been telling us it was all set for early this week . . .

CZECHS PLEDGE
LOYAL ATTITUDE TOWARD HITLER

Foreign Minister Meets Fuehrer in Conference
at Munich

Munich, Oct. 14.—(AP)—An official German announcement today said that Frantisek Chvalkovsky, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, had given Reichsfuehrer Hitler assurances that Czechoslovakia in the future will adopt "a loyal attitude" toward Germany.

The announcement came some two hours after Hitler had received the Czechoslovak envoy in the Fuehrerhaus, scene of the historic Munich conference, which two weeks ago set the seal on Czechoslovakia's dismemberment at Hitler's behest.

The official account of the meeting said the fuehrer had expressed profound regret that the question of Czechoslovakia's Hungarian minority had not yet been solved and had told Chvalkovsky that he hoped an amicable solution of this problem soon would be found.

Informed circles said Hitler, in his 90 minute conversation with the Prague envoy, "took occasion to discuss all questions involving both states."

Chvalkovsky planned to leave Munich for Prague this afternoon.

Hungary Appeals
The Komarom conference, in which Hungary sought from a Slovak delegation representing Prague satisfaction of her demands for Hungarian-populated areas of Slovakia, broke up yesterday without agreement and Hungary announced she would take her case to the four powers of the Munich accord.

(A leader of the Slovak delegation said Hungary had demanded 4,349 square miles with a population of 1,120,000; Czechoslovakia had offered to cede 2,152 square miles with 378,000 population.)

After conferences with German officials at Berlin yesterday, Chvalkovsky reached Munich this morning and at noon was ushered into the Fuehrer's presence in the glistening fuehrerhaus.

Hitler previously had supported Hungary's territorial demands on Czechoslovakia and declined at the Munich conference of Sept. 29 to guarantee the frontiers of the republic until she had settled her minority disputes with both Poland and Hungary.

The Munich accord provided that the heads of the German, British, Italian and French governments would meet again in three months—by the end of December—if such settlements had not been achieved.

Predicted Demands
Before today's talk in the fuehrerhaus nazi circles predicted Hitler would tell the Czechoslovak envoy:

1. The Prague government must quickly cede to Hungary the Czechoslovak districts where Hungarians predominate.

2. Germany will not favor the Hungarian-Polish idea of a common frontier to be created by the incorporation of Ruthenia with Hungary.

3. Germany will approve a new Czechoslovakia comprising Czechs, Slovaks and Ruthenians as autonomous sections of a republic having only an army and a foreign policy in common.

4. Czechoslovakia must abandon her present alliances with Soviet Russia and France.

5. Germany lays little stress upon Czechoslovakia's future im-

SAYS BALLYHOO IS

HORSE RACING NOW

Washington, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Informed persons in the administration disclosed today a broad new attack on the problem of unemployment is in the making. This may result, they said, in presentation to congress early next year of a correlated program for restoring work opportunities by improving conditions in the nation's basic durable goods industries. Details have not been made known.

At the same time it was learned a major objective of the monopoly investigating committee will be to uncover business practices and faults in the nation's economic structure.

The committee's work probably will be concerned with a long range solution to the problem, but some administration officials are more interested in starting on a program during the winter.

These officials contend that no substantial improvement in business can be expected until the nation's estimated 10,000,000 or more jobless begin returning to useful employment in private industry.

They say a sound prosperity must be based on restoring prosperous conditions to the heavy goods industry. This can be brought about, they argue, by setting the railroads on their feet, by further stimulating building construction, by encouraging greater automobile production, and in similar ways.

Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, said yesterday after a White House call:

"Employment is increasing everywhere, and the outlook is brighter than at any time in a year. I look for a steady increase in employment all over the United States."

Ford Policy Toward Personnel Unchanged

Detroit, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Harry H. Bennett, personal director of the Ford Motor Company, in an interview regarding his meeting with Homer Martin last Tuesday, said today that "our policy hasn't changed one bit."

Bennett declared Martin had heard he could not meet anyone connected with the management of the Ford company.

Bennett, informed of this, said he sent an acquaintance to tell Martin he would be glad to discuss matters of mutual importance.

"But this doesn't mean that our policy has changed one bit," he declared, "and as far as I am concerned, it never will."

"We have never refused to discuss matters with our men. We talked over plant and personal problems together long before the Wagner act was ever thought of. It has never been necessary for us to make any effort to keep our men from joining a union. The only thing we have said is that they don't have to join a union to get a job at Ford's, and that still goes."

TRACTOR COMPANY WINS

Peoria, Ill. — (AP) — Federal Judge Charles G. Briggie apparently ended the 19-year court litigation of Charles Parady, Belleville, Ill., inventor against the Caterpillar Tractor Co., when he ordered the plaintiff and his bondsmen to pay costs of $5,220.84 in the suit.

Parady had lost his suit, charging theft of a patent, and appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago. The higher court affirmed the district court's ruling and the tractor company asked to be reimbursed for costs in the appeal.

CENTENNIAL OF
ST. LUKE'S WILL BE CELEBRATED

Week of Special Services
Will Begin Sunday Morning

St. Luke's Episcopal church will celebrate the centennial of the organization of the parish beginning with the 10:45 A. M. service Sunday.

The parish was organized in August, 1838, under the direction of James DePui who was then located in Dixon.

The first Episcopal service had been held the year before on July 2, 1837, by the Rt. Rev. Philander Chase, first bishop of Illinois. Shortly after his visit he sent the Rev. Mr. DePui to Dixon's Ferry as "Missionary at large" on the Rock river. The Rev. Mr. DePui, with his wife and child, lived in a small home which he had built on a block of land given him by "Father" John Dixon. The house originally stood on the northwest corner of Jefferson avenue and Everett street. Later it was moved east across Jefferson avenue, and still later it was again moved, this time north, on Jefferson avenue. It is still standing at 608 N. Jefferson Ave. and is well known as the oldest house in Dixon.

First Building in 1856.

The first Episcopal church building was erected in 1856 and was used for the first time on September 28th of that year. This building stood on the lot to the north of the present church. It has been remodelled twice and is now an attractive home.

The cornerstone of the present building was laid on September 7, 1871. The first service in it was held on September 15, 1872, and a month later, on October 18, 1872, it was consecrated and dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Henry John Whitehouse, the second Bishop of Illinois.

The interior of the church was gutted by a $15,000 fire on October 24, 1935, and the congregation was without a church building for almost a year. It was rededicated by Bishop Stewart of Chicago on October 25, 1936, and since then has been made more beautiful than ever by the addition of many memorials and gifts.

The centennial sermon will be preached by the rector of the parish, the Rev. B. Norman Burke, Sunday, at 10:45. On Tuesday evening at 6:30 there is to be a centennial dinner for members, former members, former rectors and friends of the parish. Thursday, St. Agnes' Guild of the church is having a tea at which time articles in use a century ago will be exhibited. The following Sunday, October 23rd, the celebration will close with the morning service in the church, at which time Bishop Johnson of Colorado will preach the sermon and confirm the centennial class.

BULGARIA ROUNDS UP CONSPIRATORS
IN REVOLT PLOTS

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 14.—(AP)

Scores of persons described as "hostile to the present government" were shipped to jails in the province today as part of a nation-wide police precaution taken after discovery of a revolutionary plot.

Hundreds of others were arrested and questioned, and a government spokesman predicted that police would "clear up the entire plot within 24 hours."

Three members of parliament, who three months ago refused to attend a reception given by King Boris, were in custody.

Many Macedonians were arrested and large stores of arms were seized. Precautionary measures were directed mainly against the outlawed Imro, organization of Macedonian extremists demanding an autonomous state including the 2,000,000 Macedonians now living in Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Greece.

Officials believed the assassination Monday of Major General Yordan Peyeff, chief of the Bulgarian army general staff was to have been the signal for revolution.

The assassin, Stoil Kiroff, shot himself.

But before he died, one informant said, he confessed that he used pistols supplied by the Imro and that he had been instructed to shoot the king, the premier or someone at the war ministry.

Quick action by King Boris, government quarters said, checked the conspiracy.
